Magnetic Insoles.

WHAT THEY DO.

Insulate the foot from the cold damp earth, and thus prevent the abstraction of the positive force from the body.

Generate by their Magnetic Action an agreeable warmth and insure against cold feet.

Secure perfect circulation in the feet and lower extremities.

Cure Chilblains and remove all unnatural heat, perspiration, swelling and tenderness of the feet and ankles.

Exert a tranquillizing and invigorating influence upon the entire system through improved circulation.

Prevent, relieve, and in some cases cure, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and kindred diseases.

In all forms of Chronic and Nervous Diseases and Debility are invaluable.

One pair of the Magnetic Insoles will demonstrate the truth of these claims. Price, $1 per pair. SEND CURRENCY OR STAMPS IN LETTER AT OUR RISK.

100,000 prominent residents of the City of Chicago wearing them. INSOLES FOR SALE BY ALL LEADING DRUGGISTS.

THOUSANDS OF PERSONS

Are now writhing in Disease, all of whom date the contraction of their different maladies from the catching of a cold from

DAMP OR COLD FEET.

"Keep the feet warm and the head cool" is an axiom as old as the hills, and yet it is as true to-day as at any period in the world's history.

Insoles sent postpaid, on receipt of $1 per pair. To families, 6 pairs for $5. Male and female clerks wanted, and whether for lady or gentleman. Agents wanted in every town.

Send for illustrated paper, giving cuts of Magnetic Appliances that have no equal in the world.

The Preacher's Quiet Habits.

Sedentary and studious men sometimes become prostrated before they know it. Those who spend much time in close mental work, and neglect to take enough exercise, often find their stomachs unable to do the work of digestion. The liver becomes taxed. The bowels act irregularly. The brain refuses to serve as it once did. Their pounding becomes a failure, and there is a state of general misery. So many ministers have been restored to health by the use of Brown's Iron Bitters that the boys generally are speaking to their friends of this medicine as the very best tonic and restorer they know of. It restores this and watery blood to its proper condition by toning it up with the purest and most invigorating preparation of iron that science has ever made. It is pleasant to take, and acts immediately with the happiest results, not only on the persons, but on other folks as well. 2

IT'S SO! ASK JOHN.

A Suit Co. on State-st. advertise the purchase of "the most desirable portion" of the Eddy, Harvey & Co. bankrupt stock, but Mr. John C. Shortall, Assignee, says they bought just seven garments for $206, while the stock invoiced about $100,000. A North Side dry-goods house also advertised "thousands of dollars" worth of the same stock, but Mr. Shortall says their total purchase was only $1,061.75. Now,

EXPLANATION!
MISFIT
Clothing Parlors!
ROOM 6,
MONTAUK BLOCK,
Opposite Sherman House.

What Are Misfits?

A Question often asked by our customers is, "What is Misfit Clothing?" This we always answer cheerfully and now through the press we explain our great peculiarity to those who have not yet patronized us.

When a Merchant Tailor's stock with an ordered suit, it becomes, in the language of the trade, a "MISFIT." This suit may be only to the individual who ordered it, yet it has to take its place among the cast to take it away. Sometimes a misfit. Misfit are fine, stylish garments the Merchant Tailor makes to order but fails to secure cash for. Until recently the Merchant Tailor had no market for them. It did not pay to sell them to his customers, because he would thus probably lose a good purchasing patron. Neither could he offer them to sale in his window. It would give him the name of dealing in ready-made garments, and look like an acknowledgment of overstocking, something the Merchant Tailor despises. Seeing the opportunity to secure custom-made garments to stand what the cloth cost, we visited Merchant Tailors of the east and other cities, and bought up their misfits at proportionately low figures. Our

MISFIT PARLORS

Are supplied with goods of the finest textures and workmanship, which are selling at about one-half original retailing price. These goods are to appear in the shop Eastern men offered to sale, at the most fashionable out, strongly sewed with silk. For the suit we ask you $10 the tailor asks you $20. Then to $15, $20, $25, $30. Each we offer you suits worth nearly double the amount.

are conspicuous for that durability that next to tone quality is the paramount consideration in the selection of an instrument. Many Pianos that when new possess a pleasing quality of tone that defies all but the most expert investigation prove themselves utterly worthless and unreliable when subjected to the crucial test of persistent and continued use, the tone speedily losing its freshness and assuming that wiry and unmusical quality so devoid of melodiousness and so offensive to the cultivated ear.

Indorsed by the most celebrated authorities of the musical world and by the liberal and increasing patronage of the most cultured public, these Instruments offer the most absolute security to the purchaser.

The county with which the whole public is to be presented for the election of the new county at the late date shows the practical work of the change. Actions have occurred which are fraught with such an element of question and motive. That to keep a city as Chicago has placed further away from one of the enabling sentiment it is possible more than has occurred. To-day at noon the boiling powder of the city will change their denomination, and the Post-Office will keep its students who minister later than usual. It is probable that the Legislature will hesitate regularly here' a day or two sooner to fix one which the party had before, but at the most time young men should remember that when they see on all midnight make the new relief of things they have to notify gross and private hour in their lights.

PROFESSOR S. Kay was sensible one night of reading his old from his employer, Prince, Kane & Co., the bankers, and was found to be guilty of good services in false pretenses. This result is one of the most severe called out to meet the case of official in the city for years. The sentence is the most remarkable in view of the fact that it was delivered in spite of most extraordinary efforts in behalf of the prisoner, made, it is said, by the men to whom Kay had put in the dock, and destroyed the entire work of three and writers. Only a few gallons of tears were found.

CHICAGO'S citizens are now Pittsburgh's "Battle of Gettysburg." The excitement in the most hostility of any in America, at last, and bring a safe position to those right which a city rising into the dignity of a real metropolis must keep for the attraction and amusement of its inhabitants and guests. Literature will be found a statement of the present status of the property. It has been such a time to attention, as such as such for public good as for private gain.

The situation in Congress is reported still chiefly as unchanged, and Alfalfa Caucus will remain within its lines. The official disposition are shown as to the results of the crisis upon Sunday and Monday.

The Italian Catholics think the people of the United States are suffering for want of a Papal Ambassador to Washington. The Rome believes "the American Congress would approve of such an appointment."

It is said that the young man who most proved inspiring for Senator Perry Pickle afternoon with a basket receiver in hand was suffering from the effects of a recent attack of typhus. He does not belong to any secret society.

GERONIMO'S future keepers, now the Comes Prison, started for Ayuta yesterday morning. His cell will create a bullish in France, and the Commercials in Paris, Southern Parade, and Spain will make all the regular blow or to prisoners of the affair.

The Lessons in "Living" the commercial ation and exchanges of England. He is everywhere received as one of the most generous men of his time. Fortune, though, he will not be as popular in his own country when the arrangements for England's new canal shall have been completed.

There is a division of opinion among the Spanish Liberals who are now rejoicing the United Government. Some want universal suffrage and others desire to let out those who cannot read and write. Undoubtedly such a prohibition would greatly narrow the number of votes, so that the restricted system it will prove too strong to resist.

With people like the Spanish mailing and acting in a fierce rivalry of the late lamented Bill Alsike's priests, and the law and plant in the latter.

Turkey refuses to admit the claim of Great and Bulgaria to make treaties of commerce for themselves. The Sultan is taking an exacting like the attitudes of the Pope—that is, he is becoming a Metternich for Europe for the spiritual government of persons which really belong to Greek, Austria, and Great Britain.

C. C. SPOOR, a clergyman of Denver, has an oil speculation and resigned to the conduct a small stock of liquor. This should be by of the Natural Prohibitionists of the town, and every Friday morning a box of contact sets called the open books to the dean, and destroys the cards stock of rum and whisky. Only a few dollars of liquor were found.

CHICAGO'S offense are one Pullman's "Battle of Gettysburg." That enterprise is the most beautiful of art in America, at least, and bears a noble position to those states which is city coming into the family of a real metropolis next long for the citizenship and constituents of to its habitants and needs. Elsewhere will be found a statement of the present status of the property. It has been such a town in attention, as profit as such, for public good as for private gain.

THE monthly bills which the state gets to be prepared for the attention of the new standard of fine bills shows the practical cost of the change. Nothing have circulation printed has failed with such an element of opinion and value. But as long a city as Chicago have plenty dollars away from one of the gambling antidotes it is possible such bills would have caused. So far as now the lasting principle of the city will change this denomination, and the Post-Office will keep to emphasize the situation later than usual. It is probable that the Chicago bonds will become equally here a source of nice science to the eye which the early had before, but at the same time many would remember that when they shall at midnight under the new order of things they have to notify gems and gewgaws have in their tables.

FRANCOIS H. KOX was recently convicted of stealing $50,000 from his employers, Peoria, Knox & Co., the bankers, and sentenced to the years of penal servitude in default September. This penalty is one of the most severe inflicted in view of the fact that it was efficient in spite of most extraordinary efforts in behalf of the prisoner, such, it is said, by the men to whom the bank and his daughter gave to enlist sympathy. Kox, and it is more alleged that part of the stolen money was employed in his defense. Great credit should be given to Kox's former employers for enforcing so rigorous a prosecution in defiance of the powerful feeling, so and as the jury which refused to be blinded by legal technicalities and brought to an righteous a verdict after only fifteen minutes of deliberation.

BANKRUPTCY OF BILL OF SALE.

There will be increase for business failures to the times. Whenever an individual, or firm, or corporation shall find itself hopelessly involved, it will only be necessary to sell out to good will and stock in trade to somebody else. The process, if a little more in law, will avoid the disagreeable interference of the courts and the thereof and its actions. As to creditors—they may attach for their money, and it will come to them about as quickly as the election to the lieutenant matters when he indulges in the same heroine parties.

This means relief to universal misery in the commercial world to hear upon the real estate of the or three Chicago firms, which, under the old order of things, would have been compelled to confront the humiliation of bankruptcy. Instead of making an assignment they have simply sold out their stock on hand, their bills receivable, their book accounts, their good will, and all other assets, and have received in themselves absolutely nothing for their liabilities. How much may be realized by a transaction of this kind and what becomes of the previous money is of course the business of nobody but the purchaser and those interested of the previous firm. The latter acquires the available assets, whatever they may amount to. If there be a surplus over and above the claims he is supposed, free to appropriate it, having "bought" the assets for his own claims or by payment of a nominal sum; or he may divide the surplus, if there be any, with the men who "sold out" to him in return for their continuous treatment; or he may give it to the poor. In any case there is not the slightest reduction that the general run of creditors will ever receive a penny of it.

It is hard to conceive that this system of liquidation by bill of sale will be accepted by the courts to the exclusion and detriment of all creditors but one. The purchaser may provide that that when he bought the stock and his receipts he also acquired the title to all goods on the store being selling merchants who ever had faithfully to dunning up still of sale, blank forms for which can be obtained at the nearest stationer's or present from a stamp attorney for a dollar bill. The abandonment of the cumbersome machinery of a creditors in the commercial world; the release of honest-but-poor debtor (which really is cognate with the present conditions of trade, and such time and as never would take the place of true paper. In the meantime, the creditors who have trusted to mercantile probity in case of business failure will have been left to the tender by the three cents, and to the count of hundreds of millions of dollars.

The practice of preferring creditors under the varying rules of the several State laws has led enough to all courteous sales; but the new equation actually wipes out of the creditors save, perhaps, one individual, who because the purchaser or is represented by a counted purchaser. The later system of

A PRESCRIPTION FOR DYSPEPSIA.

Certain, harmless, natural, and most agreeable of all, no drugs necessary. By complying with the following suggestions all the symptoms of dyspepsia, such as distress of stomach, nervousness, insomnia, languidness, with headache, heartburn, etc., etc., will disappear, the sufferer will again be cheerful, able to fulfill his duties and to enjoy life. Thousands have been profited already, and many thousands more can be made happy also. Now for the prescription:

Breakfast—A slice or two of toast or cold meat or cracked wheat, a cup of coffee or tea (if desired), and a glass of Arend's Kumyss.

Dinner—A moderate piece of lean beef or mutton, a mealy potato or two, a little bread, and a glass of Arend's Kumyss.

Supper—No cold food whatever, simply one or two glasses of Arend's Kumyss. A glass of Kumyss may also be taken on retiring. What people sleep better on it.

Though the regime of diet may seem scant to such as are in the habit of satisfying their appetite (not distinguishing between appetite and hunger), yet scientific investigation and experience have proved that it is sufficient for all but fixed labourers. With above diet the dyspeptic grows lively, ruddy, hearty, where on a richer diet he stays poor, weak, and sickly. One week's trial will tell the story and prove the logic of above suggestions. If you do not know what Arend's Kumyss is you can have a treatise thereon mailed to you, gratis, by addressing

Chickering Pianos!

The Best in the World!

"The Messrs. Chickering have adopted a metallic action in their Uprights, and this we consider the most important and valuable improvement lately introduced into the mechanism of the popular class of instruments. This device obviates the liability to imparted action on account of atmospheric changes, and eliminates one of the greatest difficulties in the construction of Uprights."—From Report of Committee on Awards.

How a Married Woman Prospers Herself for Situation.

Instead of the letter-bell thinking of what she should have attended to before going to bed, says an exchange, she thinks of it after-wards. While she snugly tucked up in bed, according their duties to her mind, the one attending to something for her benefit, and remembering her to will and the next morning look for it; and the next morning look for it, and the next month to look. Suddenly she says:

"Charles, did you look the flues?"

"Which flues?" says Charles.

"Why, flues to heaters, to be sure," says Emma, in astonishment.

"Heaters, eh?" answers her wife. "Which heaters?"

"Why, your heaters, of course," says Emma, in astonishment.

"Your heaters, eh?" says Charles, in astonishment.

THE BANGOR PUNCH.

AN INTERVIEW SOMEWHAT.

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 14.—[Special Cable Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.]—The Marquis Tseng, who has always evinced a disinclination to interview representatives of European papers, today in Paris accorded a very short audience to the Times correspondent, and put forth some comprehensive statements for publication in the United States. The reporter put the following question to the Ex-ambassador: "I am desirous to call your attention to the fact that statements have been cabled to the United States stating that you have been subject to the Chinese Government to commence negotiations with the French Government, and have also consented to take any steps in that sort on your own responsibility. Have these statements any correct?"

The Marquis answered: "Neither allegation is true in any way."

"Do you officially authorize me to deny them?" asked the reporter.

"I deny them and authorize you to publish what I say. I have not been ordered to commence negotiations with the French Government. I have not been ordered to take up any study in Paris. I have not been advised by my Government to do either. I have not received instructions, because they have not been written off. I returned to Paris of my own accord, although perhaps reluctantly. I did it in the natural course of my duty as Chinese Ambassador to France. My sole reason for making my present visit to Paris is this: There has been a change in the French Ministry for Foreign Affairs. When M. Jules Ferry quitted the office of French Minister for Foreign Affairs, diplomatic politeness required that I call upon Ambassador to Pekin, make an official visit of recognition to the new Minister. Consequently on the pressing invitation between M. Ferry and myself now, I did not wish to neglect performing this diplomatic courtesy. My present visit to Paris is one merely of diplomatic politeness."

AT CHOW CHOW ASSES.

"There you have the exact personal explanation with M. Ferry?"

"No," answered Tseng deliberately. "I have not. M. Ferry's conduct in using a previous elegant expression, one, from M. Tricou, French agent in China, has rendered a resumption of personal relations impossible until the proper reparation is made. M. Ferry accused a man of misdemeanor in the French Minister's Bangkok gulling by producing a dispatch from M. Tricou asserting that Li Hung Chang, the Chinese General, and Governor of the Northern Provinces, had dismissed my appointee. Li Hung Chang never made the alleged statement. I have pronounced the Tricou telegram a lie. I have accused M. Ferry of false personages in using it. It is true the French Ministry, after having accepted the note, have admitted that the dispatch was erroneous, but they maintained that the error was to be laid to our colleague. Hence M. Ferry and I are there on personal relations. You only see, therefore, that the 'gerrying' between the French Government and myself as Chinese Ambassador is suspended."

Being asked whether the dispute was troubling the Marquis shall: "It is rapidly reaching crisis-way."

"That action on the part of France will close perhaps to an act of war?" asked the reporter.

ALL CHOW.

The Marquis Tseng was silent for a moment, and then, smiling sure that the reporter may safely state, answered slowly: "If the French attack either Tonsq or Saccha, especially the latter, Tseng will accept other attack as a casus belli, and will go into war against France."

"Why will China consider an attack on Saccha more serious than one on Tonsq?"

"Well, the French bring at Hanoi may give some political or strategical reason for attacking a south Tonsq, as both places are on the Red River, and Tonsq is almost entirely in the occupation of Hanoi. But no such reason can be given for an advance upon Saccha. This is to the northeast of Hanoi and a disadvantage from the river. A French attack upon Saccha will be purely an act of invasion."

"What action will be pursued by China in the French private upon Saccha?"

"The party necessary action of gain. The Saccha drama should with the gun away."

"In the event of a French attack upon Saccha will China make a general war upon France?"

"Yes," answered the Marquis. "China will then war with France. If the French attack Saccha it will be your present purpose to send the entire Chinese Embassy out to shall into France. The words of such a war cannot but be disastrous. I regret that fact's treatment."

THAT WAR WAR.

"Is China anxious for peace?"

"No; the great majority of the Chinese people desire war with France."

The difference between Chinese and European methods of warfare being alluded to by the reporter, the Marquis said: "It is a mistake to underestimate the ability of the Chinese in the art of modern warfare. The Chinese are formidable before they are seen—their subjection is their fiasco. The progress of China in modern military science has recently been really great. It does not do popular to underestimate our opponent. All Chinese-trained have it. The popular Manchurian boast upon it. The navy and all the accumulated soldiers throughout the Empire are actively exercising for a war against foreigners. The most popular act the Chinese Government could take just now would be to declare war against France."

AN INSULT ANSWER.

"Is it true, as reported, that the Government of the United States has offered to act as arbiter between China and France in the present dispute?"

"It is not true. The Government of the United States has neither offered to act as arbiter nor mediator. The only action which has arisen in the matter has been England, and her offers were not further than to offer to instigate an official between the two disputants. This offer was rejected by France in a way the cannot be accepted by England as complimentary, and the manner of the rejection is not likely to be the other friends of France that I believe have spoken out plainly enough to satisfy such a rejection as France may be willing to risk."

M. Jules Ferry, the Premier of France, at Paris, it is said, brought his views before the French Chamber of Deputies, and obtained a vote of confidence by 300 votes to 270. The Chamber will be opened with the message.

[illegible] Dr. Stocker is studying with the Crown Prince, at Hallberg. Your correspondent, who called on him there this morning, found the eminent gentleman in his room and preparing to his manners and [illegible] of his speech. He has a full and round, and he speaks English fairly well. He German accent, instead of weakening the [illegible] rather lends force to his clear statements and he is a strong and mighty conversationalist. He spoke freely concerning the French question, and then passed conjectures on the different phases which it presents in different countries.

In the City of London, he said, the Jews had not quite succeeded in hoodwinking Lord Beaconsfield, but the former, Jews of the European capitals, had the German Jews of the European [illegible] succeeded in hoodwinking into believing them to be all that could be desired. England was fortunate enough to have no citizens who [illegible] the Jews Rothschilds and the Sassoons, and the bulk of her population was inclined to accept them as representatives of their race. This was a fortunate accident, for it completely misled the English people to the true state of the Jew question in Germany, and he had come to the conclusion that it was a useless task to attempt to instruct them. There are 40,000 Jews in Berlin alone.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE.

When Dr. Stocker's attention was called to the high social standing of Servants of Jews in the United States, where there are many Germans, and was asked to account for the [illegible] which existed there, he said that the Americans had at the very outset the evil to which they were exposing themselves in colonial companies. The Americans were poorly careful to protect themselves against oppression from abroad. They had passed laws which prevented the [illegible] from being changed by the strong labor of the Citizens, and he believed that if they also began fully aware of the dreaded long effect of an influx of Jews they would not hesitate to take means to prevent it. In regard to the Jewish question in Germany, he said the Jews there were overdone. They controlled the liberal press and used it to undermine and destroy the healthy institutions of the Empire. Together they were the most bitter and the most [illegible] which Christianity had to face. Jewries perfectly understands the bad effect of the German Liberal press. Jews have the synagogue at Breslau, and there assumed the anti-Jewish party of compelling the Jews. This was a fact to, but it is a fair sample of their methods and general conduct.

Jews Corrupt, he thought, understood the Jews thoroughly, and he knew of one or two prominent men who had [illegible] their race on the subject, and had not hesitated to get them into practice when they found their interests imperiled by the tactics and practices of these detestable people. Prince Bismarck had now been strongly anti-Jewish in his sympathies, but was due to a the Chancellor of the Empire to suppress [illegible] Jewish commercial [illegible].

Dr. Stocker, on being asked if he knew what Crown Frederick William, the Crown Prince, both of the Jewish question, said that he had never spoken to him on the subject. In speaking to his relations with the German Imperial family he said that he was sure that both the Emperor and the Crown Prince loved him, and that they would not in any way interfere with the free expression of his honest convictions. He greatly admired the Crown Prince, and was satisfied that when he came to the throne he would make a great and good King.

JEWS AGAIN.

The afternoon a number of Dr. Stocker's adherents convened a private meeting at the St. Stephen's Club in order to give the Doctor an opportunity to explain his views to an audience which would at least hear him in peace. The gentleman who presided over the select gathering was a Mr. Holbrook, an Oxonian. The audience numbered twenty. Several vestigial interruptions Dr. Stocker about the Jews. A member of the club, who, notwithstanding the chance, succeeded in making himself heard, stated that he strongly objected to the prostitution of the privileges of the club to such issues. The letting of the premises to a pro-Semite was an outrage, and should not be tolerated by the respectable members of the club. After the private hall of these genteel rabbis. Those remaining voted up the sitting by offering congratulations to the speaker and passing resolutions of mutual admiration.

Ben Butler, who will furthermore, Cardinal, and Victor Hugo the 1,000 Socialists who broke up Dr. Stocker's anti-Semitic meeting in Memorial Hall Thursday afternoon, has signed a letter of anti-Semitic apology through our Regent, and is preparing to do the same throughout Germany. In an interview with a reporter tonight Butler said: "The two gentlemen who [illegible] Stocker said: 'Is the Jew going to be allowed to [illegible] the Christian? Is the Jew going to be allowed to [illegible] the Christian? Is the Jew going to be allowed to [illegible] the Christian?' I answered, 'Yes, the Jew is going to be allowed to [illegible] the Christian.' I am a Christian myself, and I am not afraid of the Jew. I am not afraid of the Jew. I am not afraid of the Jew.

Randall's Supporters Regard the Fight as Having Been Won Long Ago.

While Carlisle's Followers Consider "The Tribune's" Estimate Correct.

What One of New York Has to Say —Springer of Illinois in the Field.

Arrival at Washington of the Pennsylvania Candidate—His Hope of a Row Vanes.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 17.—[Special.]—"The fight is already over, I may well say," said one of Randall's most confident supporters. "The statements about the strength of Carlisle are the merest talk. If they were confident that they had the votes they wouldn't talk so much. Randall doesn't talk."

"Where does his strength center from?" was the inquiry.

"It is easy to see—Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, South Carolina, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana and the States, in fact, except Kentucky."

"But Mr. Carlisle's friends and The Tribune's member claim that he is very strong in the Mississippi Valley."

"Yes, but they do not know how the people will vote. Look at the four Tribune papers. Look at the French papers, particularly. They are denouncing the position on the Mississippi River question and are saying that any one who votes against Randall will do so at his own peril. These statements are having their influence, for the intelligence has been that Carlisle's position in favor of the repeal of the jute bag is popular. It was an advantage that one of them, if required an army of officeholders to enforce it, and they have already been charged by the South. By that position will be destroyed and the vote about this subject will be divided. If you come to think of it the tax on whisky is a tax on agricultural products. Why should there be a tax on whisky when there is no tax on cotton? It is an inconsistency, against the producers of corn. And besides they will find that the Democratic masses will not tinker. STANDARD TIME.

All Roads Today Most of the Railroads Will Discard the Old and Adopt the New.

Hitherto There Have Been Fifty-three Kinds of Time; Now There Will Be but Five.

How the American Continent Is Arranged in Divisions—The Difference Calculated for Many Cities.

THE TRIBUNE presents to readers today with a map explaining the standard time which will be adopted at noon today by the railroads of the North, describes its construction, and in connection therewith has published ratings showing the difference between the new time and the local or solar time of the leading cities of the country. A change somewhat similar to that which is now effected in practice was formerly effected in England by an act of Parliament, and a notice would not longer be delayed in the country owing to the inconvenience arising under the old system. It may not be generally known that the railroads of this country have been compelled of late years under fifty-three different kinds of time, the difference between the extreme being very slight in some instances, but enough to render people with various trustworthy, besides causing other inconveniences.

[illegible] THE NEARER APPROACH.

The difficulties which the map represents are the old railroad maps by an elaborate system of which would explain an ordinary observer. Under the new system there are five divisions of time on the North American Continent. Intercolonial, embracing Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, Eastern, taking in the New England States, New York, Pennsylvania, and the eastern parts of Pennsylvania, Central, including Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, Missouri, and the States north and south of them; Mountain, comprising the trade area of the Missouri River to the Rocky mountains, and Pacific, taking in the land on the Pacific coast.

[illegible] THE NEW RULES.

The five rulers meant to govern in the map presented by THE TRIBUNE, but the divisions are marked by dials, and the change will be accomplished at a minute when those hands are brought. The time to which the earth revolves upon its axis is divided into twenty-four equal parts, termed hours, and for convenience in measuring distance, the 360 degrees of the earth's circumference are divided into twenty-four equal parts, each of which is called a degree. The surface of the earth revolves on its axis from west to east, so that to every point on the earth's surface the sun appears to move from east to west, and it is noon at any place when the sun is on the meridian of that place. The time to which the earth revolves upon its axis or divided into twenty-four equal parts, termed hours, and for convenience in measuring distance, the 360 degrees of the earth's circumference are divided into twenty-four equal parts, each of which is called a degree. The surface of the earth revolves on its axis from west to east, so that to every point on the earth's surface the sun appears to move from east to west, and it is noon at any place when the sun is on the meridian of that place. This explanation may serve to explain how, notwithstanding the [illegible] hour, it may now and be, with their new time.

The railroads which will adopt the standard time at noon tomorrow are the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, the Atchison, the South Side and all roads east of Chicago, having in some instances to be prepared for the Illinois & St. Paul and the Northwestern Roads and they affecting the standard time east the [illegible] line.

[illegible] IN THE NEW STANDARD.

The Western Union Manufacturing Company, whose works are located at No. 181 West Monroe street, furnishes the standard time now to private users in the leading cities, the Gamewell and other factories supplying apparatus for the Bureau of the company, it is but natural to suppose that this is to be selected. To-day the company is to [illegible] and our customers to the [illegible] their notice to the system and station of all those that neglect their duties to take the new time. The change will therefore be made at once here. The directors of the company include Messrs. Gamon, Ufford, Pierrick, and all of the leading [illegible].

The Board of Trade will change the time [illegible] to the new standard, and the Commercial Board of Trade is [illegible] due to the Council Monday evening in addition to [illegible] the new time by the Chicago Observatory [illegible] by the [illegible].

The Postmaster has received a telegram from First Assistant Postmaster-General Hatton, in reply to a letter stating that the authorities have given no definite notice that they intend to change the adoption of the new standard time. Mr. Hatton has received no order to adopt the new system today, and therefore the Postoffice [illegible] to continue to [illegible] by the [illegible] with the exception that clocks will be changed [illegible] hour, so that the mail [illegible] will be [illegible] by the new time. Such collections will prove to be serious and highly-wrought tragedy. The Lotus Club (Comic) is supposed to be full of to murder a man and get his body in a trunk—the murdered man, of course, making his appearance striking the last act. The whole action of the absurd performance is staking up that trunk. The murdering gang is chiefly put such a trunk to all base the stands, and then comes on as a prolonged hunt for it to recover which such a trunk. Inquisitive arrive a hue for the murder, but are informed in search for the trunk, which was purchased, that to recover it void, much was promised, unless the body is produced. So they join in the chase for the trunk, now getting on track of it, and now losing the clue, like the hounds after a fox of celebrated. The chase and search movement in the heavy tragic method as opposed to its comedy humor.

The "Bettering Army" Charity has again entered its sphere of operations, and announces the opening of a dispensary to commence with a weekly issue Sunday from 11 to 12 a. m., for women and children. Those needing aid may be put still in mind of the "Bettering Army" Dispensary, 101 Michigan avenue.

Midwinter evening the Cattle Beef Club, with some of its friends, numbering about seventy-five persons, met at the residence of Mr. Charles Barnes, No. 127 Dayton street, and went in a body to the residence of the President, Mr. Charles Cattle, at No. 431 Dearborn avenue, where the evening was enjoyably spent in dancing and feasting.

There is some talk in the effort that the Exchange building will be turned over to the Public Library free of rent when the new Chamber of Commerce is ready for occupancy. The lease is for ninety-nine years at $5,000 a year, and sixty years fifteen years of the lease have expired. Nothing definite has been done in the matter, and the talk amounts to little more than a suggestion.

Martin Wick, 14 years of age, was fatally shot yesterday afternoon by falling down the entrance shaft at W. J. Hood & Co.'s gunmaking shop, No. 67 Washington street, where he was employed. He snapped the entrance cap of the fourth floor and, stepping into the shaft, fell from the fourth floor to the ground. The body was removed to the home of his parents, No. 156 Townsend street.

Last week the insurance and factory inspectors made seventy-seven examinations, examined sixty-five boilers, fifty-six factories, and eighty-nine stores, saved thirty-one lives, and ordered thirty-seven repairs. The following places were reported as unsafe and unhealthy: No. 111 and 113 Fourth court, No. 200 Thirty-first street, Nos. 2425 and 2427 State street, No. 111 Third avenue, No. 1 Fifty-first avenue, and No. 6 Indiana street.

The suit mentioned some weeks ago in the Pioneers of Wales vs. the Baltimore & Ohio National Company, for the recovery of $5,000 paid to Wales for the storage of baggage which had arrived here from New York and Chicago, and which, it was stated, had been destroyed by fire, was called for the fourth time yesterday in Justice Baker's court, after having been continued on five occasions to give counsel time to look up authorities. The judge announced that he would have to find in favor of the defendant, and Wales took a nonsuit so as to save the right to an appeal if he desired.

Mr. S. L. Hale, one of the committee appointed by the Produce Exchange to take the lesson to heard by the City Council, and protesting that the members of the exchange were dissatisfied not to pay the license until the Supreme Court had decided the constitutionality of the measure passed by the Council, he thought it would be the only one to pay the larger sum demanded by the license ordinance, if enforced now by the authorities. If the Supreme Court should sustain the ordinance Mr. Hale said that the required amount would have to be paid to the City Treasury which does the county work.

Mr. Edwin C. Sherrell read a paper before the Philosophical Society last evening on "The Origin of Democracy." He held that democracy was based on moral principles and a sense of justice, with continental people from ancient times to their lack of measure, it did not follow that all educated people possessed good manners. The speaker then devoted attention to manners, and referred to the common faults of the day in eating with a knife, talking of one's self, of the individual acts and argument generally of the Americans, and contrasted with the courtesy and manners distinguished the citizens from the continent.

The City Collector received yesterday warrants for the collection of the following special assessments: Improving Fourteenth street from South Clark to Sangamon street; Sangamon street from Fourteenth to Fifteenth street; Fifteenth street from Sangamon to Union street; Union street from Fifteenth to Sixteenth; Sixteenth street from Union to Peoria; Peoria street from Sixteenth to Seventeenth; Seventeenth street from Peoria to Halsted; Halsted street from Seventeenth to Eighteenth; Eighteenth street from Halsted to Aberdeen; Aberdeen street from Eighteenth to Twenty-second; Twenty-second street from Aberdeen to Ogden avenue; Ogden avenue from Twenty-second to Twenty-fourth; Twenty-fourth street from Ogden avenue to Western avenue; Western avenue from Twenty-fourth to Twenty-second; Twenty-second street from Western avenue to Robey; Robey street from Twenty-second to Twenty-fifth; Twenty-fifth street from Robey to Leavitt, and Fourteenth street from Leavitt to Damen.

Sir Robert, the bridgetender of the Rush street bridge is rapidly getting himself disliked among the shippers, and his conduct is to be made the subject of an investigation. Last night Mr. Rush, Percy, and two other boys, Mr. Smith from Ashland to Fulton street in a launch and as they were passing under the bridge the bell rang. Some of the boys ducked to indicate that a boat was coming, and all hands were startled by Robert, and all hands were on the bridge. At this Robert became greatly enraged, and rushing to the boys, used abusive language, threatening to put the one of the boys and making a move to that direction. The afternoon conversation, during that he seemed to have no trouble with the larger

Last Tuesday two men giving their names as Johnson and Nelson and their relation as lodgers and lodgers and their relation as private, secured board at the house of Mrs. Lydia D. Nelson, No. 100 West Monroe street. Friday afternoon they temporarily from room, taking with them all of the clothing they could carry of the owner. No arrest have been made.

James Sullivan was desperately surprised about 2 o'clock yesterday morning. At that hour he was unfortunately engaged in an effort to force open a window at the residence of Mr. E. D. Ashcroft, No. 1001 Michigan avenue, when a policeman patrolled him to Harrison street station. Sullivan was held to the criminal court in $500 bail. He is the day to Justice Prendergast.

During a row that occurred at Union and Twelfth streets between Tony Brun, a saloon-keeper, and a crowd of street soldiers, Henry Ford, 50 years old, a son of Robert D. Ford, of No. 400 South Halsted street, was accidentally stabbed by Charles Young. Young then ran, pursued by Ford, and as he passed the corner of Union street, met an officer to whom he surrendered. Ford died in the ambulance, reaching the hospital a few minutes after the stabbing.

THE STATE LAUNDRY CASE.

The application mentioned above and the case will be argued.

The search often made for the evidence of the State Savings Institution is practically ended, as the claims by the salary of an order passed Tuesday before Judge Tuley, by consent of the parties. The court has been closed for examination by the collection of the books to be and the endorsement of the stockholders. A statutory liability was contended, but the bill was retained as not of anything could be recovered out of the fraudulent of the institution. For this purpose a huge looking contrivance was erected across the Atlantic, by Receiver Lyman D. B. Spencer, Auditor. His testimony, which was exceedingly complicated, was to the effect that the bank was insolvent to the amount of $1,000,000. Mr. Spencer, Auditor, Mr. Receiver Thompson, and Mr. Bookkeeper Hall were the witnesses. The latter, who was the last witness, was examined at length, and his report of the condition of the institution was submitted. The bill, however, is retained to permit the taking of a formal decree.

JURY PLUNDERING.

"Is there anything new in your client's case," asked a Tribune reporter yesterday afternoon of Mr. Wallace Smith, the attorney for John Fleming, of northwestern fame.

"Nothing at all," he said, "excepting the fact that ten or more County Commissioners are after him, but they haven't succeeded in getting him."

"Have they retained an old prosecutor?"

"Oh, they have their warrants. Prosecuting is a good living enough, and we don't expect to get enough to make a fortune, but if he is taken before he is taken to have him, that is the only way we can get it. I suppose the jurymen will get a fee of $5 each, and that will be enough for them."

"Have you retained an old prosecutor?"

"Oh, we have our

THE "SUITS" FAMILY.

Pa Suits, immediately after dinner, being in best humor, was approached by Ma Suits about the worst suits of the six little Suits, and was told each of the young Suits needed two new suits, a play or every day suit, and a Dress Suit, in fact all the Suits Boys were laughed at last Sabbath in Sunday School on account of their Sunday Suits being such shabby suits. So Pa Suits acknowledged having read of the Great Suit Sale of Suits by the Suit firm of Harvey Bros., 84 and 86 State-st. Then Ma Suits told why Uncle John Suits had named their youngest boy Harvey Suits: Because they had always bought their suits, and got such good suits, for the last thirty years (the truth) from the Harveys, Father and Sons. Why, John Suits is a lawyer, and is now wearing a suit that he started a law-suit in fifteen years ago, and he has been wearing the one suit and living off the other suit ever since, and he thinks Harvey's Suit will outlast the law-suit (beat that if you can). So Pa Suits, Ma Suits, and the six little Suits, with their old suits, went down to the Great Suit Sale of suits to get suitably suited in suits. There they saw and bought such Suits two suits which fitted and suited each Suits, and even suited the pocket-book of Pa Suits, which was the most essential to suit. They bought Baby Suits, 2 1-2 years old, a Skirt Suit for $5.00, and saw better suits for more money, and at everything they looked the price seemed to suit. So well did it suit that Pa Suits bought himself a Scotch Cassimere Suit for a business Suit, also a Dress Suit, which made fourteen suits in all for the Suitses. Pa Suits asked Mr. Harvey, of suit fame, why his good suits were not better known? "Because," replied he, "many think us high on suits, but they are daily acknowledging that our suits are better wearing suits, more stylish suits and cheaper suits than any suits sold by other Suit Houses." "Why," said Harvey, "the last two weeks we have sold nearly fourteen hundred suits, and will continue to suit everybody who comes in old suits for new suits during the coming week." So now Pa Suits and Ma Suits, when asked about their Children's Suits, say, for good suits, or to get suitably fitted or suited, go to 84 and 86 State-st., and buy nothing but "Harvey's Suits," "Harvey's Suits," "Harvey's Suits," "Harvey's Suits," "Harvey's Suits," "Harvey's Suits," "Harvey's Suits," "Harvey's Suits."

How many Suits are there in the above? Count them.

THE DRAMA.

Review of the Week.

In an artistic sense Jannerlich's engagement was the most important event of the week, although for several reasons the accompanying public did not receive the patronage which she deserved. There is much one meets in his company, and the consciousness of his eventful, at times, theatrical but fascinating personal career of the grandson plays a far superior. It is to be regretted that she did not deserve to be seen often, but as it was she revealed such high powers in several quite impersonations, and furnished a great opportunity for an artist who got for his own sake. At first she impresses one as being formal and declamatory, as she seems to involuntarily use long tragic gestures without corresponding emotion. The impression then is that Janauschek is a woman who would act for a record out of the ordinary with an air of heroic resignation, or rather but grim with the dignity of an outraged tyrant, but her impression wears off, and it is in the spirit of a pleasant surprise to see how exquisitely natural she is apart from her attitude to the part of "Marianne." She grasps the power of passion with an ease and grace rather than any other actress, and she does not continue to the end of the evening tame, but, and is attuned to the tightness of a storm. Even a performance of a character, for the sake of the character's self-control, for she is not afraid to show the chief feature of the character, and the fact that she is not afraid to show the chief feature of the character, and that she has the courage of her convictions.

Grand Museum—The artists of the bill this week have been the main feature of the Grand Opera-House during the last week. She is to appear in "Little Trix" in the afternoon of the matinee this afternoon, and the last performance of the week will be given this evening. The management of the museum reports the house as being prepared with the comforts of the week's business. The opposition and rival theaters of both amusement have been entirely changed.

Progress for the Week.

Although Janauschek, Gilbert will appear to-morrow evening in "The Bride," the only performance which we will give of her evening. The cast has already been published, but it may be stated that Barbara Schmidt will take the part of Catherine, and Mr. John Ryan will appear in the character of Count Von Kronthal. Miss Ryan will be a welcome addition to the company, and Mr. Ryan's performance will be a welcome addition to the company, and Mr. Ryan's performance will be a welcome addition to the company, and Mr. Ryan's performance
